Dear Gizelle,

Class Notes:

Lesley Horton Campbell (C'05) recently received several honors for her work in the legal profession and her community including being named one of the National Black Lawyers 40 Under 40 in November 2015, receiving Ms. JD's Woman of Inspiration Award in February 2016 and being named to the Minority Corporate Counsel Associations' 2016 List of Rising Stars.

Anthony Pu (W’05) is excited to announce that his Kickstarter campaign for Mighty Audio was successfully funded. Mighty is the first and only device that lets you play your Spotify music on-the-go without a smartphone. Lightweight, durable, and small enough to clip-on to any piece of clothing, it's the perfect device for your active life. Mighty comes equipped with Bluetooth and WiFi, is compatible with iPhones and Androids, and can play 48 hours of music without any internet connection. All for under $80. The campaign raised over $315,000 (and they're still continuing to take pre-orders for November shipping)! Learn more about Mighty: www.mighty.audio.

Nava Lundy's, (BFA’05, Cert.’05) painting, Portrait of Masha Greenbaum, was recently accepted into Yad Vashem's permanent art collection in Jerusalem, Israel. Her paintings will also be on exhibit in May 2016 at Studio E Gallery in Palm Beach Gardens, FL, 4600 PGA Boulevard #101, Palm Beach Gardens, Florida 33418. For those unable to attend much of her artwork can also be viewed at: www.navagallery.com.
Huntsman ’05 classmates Caesar Maasry, Jack BeVier, Jean Diego Banon, Matt Gregory, Eduardo Abreu, and Laura Stephenson met up in Lima, Peru for a wedding.
