Dear '67 Classmates:

Now six months away from our 50th reunion, May 12-15, 2017, we have some good news for you. We’ve begun working on a 50th Reunion Yearbook, a collection of memories of the school that gave us a strong start in molding our lives in an uncertain world. In addition, our personal bios will enable us to share what we’ve been doing the past 50 years.

We have studied yearbooks published by the classes of 1965 and 1966. They were excellent. Ours will be better. We have learned that a reunion yearbook, particularly if distributed prior to our Reunion Weekend, contributes mightily to the interaction among our classmates.

Al Turkus and Diane Herr have agreed to be Co-Editors. With help from you, they will produce a yearbook that will enable you to share your memories and current thoughts and doings with your classmates. By the time you receive this letter, you should have received their email with a login for your personal bio (see the other side of this letter) and a survey to be submitted no later than January 20, 2017.

We won’t repeat the instructions provided by Diane and Al in their email. However, if you have not already received the email asking you to participate and you wish to do so, please send an email to Jennifer Hardy (our publisher’s representative) at jennifer@meno-recollections.com so that she can send you the email that will allow you to be added to the book. Please identify yourself as UPenn ‘67.

For questions about our ‘67 Reunion Yearbook or reunion please contact Howard “Howdy” Freedlander, our class president and reunion co-chair, at freedfriends@goeaston.net or 410-991-4254 or Alice Dagl, our class vice president and reunion co-chair at alicedagl@aol.com or 610-896-7588, or Lisbeth Willis, our Penn Alumni Relations liaison, at lisbethw@upenn.edu or 215-573-7061. If you do not have a computer/email let us know, and we can assist you.

Our 50th Reunion will be a special event. Our ‘67 Reunion Yearbook will enhance the experience for all of us. We hope you will share your memories and life experiences for our bio section, the bulk of the book. Responses to the survey will add a wonderful flourish to the reunion. Everyone who wants a copy of the Yearbook, which is priced very affordable at $32, will receive it several weeks before the reunion. There is absolutely no cost to submitting your profile, however, so we do hope every classmate will. Again, responses must be submitted no later than January 20, 2017.

Thank you for your participation in our yearbook and upcoming 50th Reunion.

Dear 67 Classmates:

Now six months away from our 50th reunion, May 12-15, 2017, we have some good news for you. We've begun working on a 50th Reunion Yearbook, a collection of memories of the school that gave us a strong start in molding our lives in an uncertain world. We encourage you to respond promptly and fully to our request for biographical information, including pictures, and your confidential answers to the survey. Our yearbook will be only as good as your input. The entire reunion committee is intent on organizing a Reunion Weekend that will be exciting, fulfilling and memorable.

Thank you for your participation in our yearbook and upcoming 50th Reunion.

Here’s what we would like you to do no later than January 20, 2020, so we can include as many classmates as possible:

- If you have not already received an email from the Yearbook Co-Editors asking you to participate and you wish to do so, please send an email to Jennifer Hardy (our publisher’s representative) at jennifer@mcn-recollections.com to be added to the book. Please make sure to identify yourself as a member of the Penn Class of 1967. If you do not have access to a computer/email, contact Lizbeh Willis at 215-573-7061.

Provide your general bio data, including responses to the following items, as applicable:

- Address
- Email
- Phone (Home); (Work); (Cell)
- Spouse/Partner
- Marital Status
- Children (with ages)
- Grandchildren (with ages)
- School/Major at Penn
- Advanced degree(s)/certifications
- Activities/Clubs at Penn
- Fraternity/Sorority
- Answer an “essay” question about “Your Life Since Penn” (in a maximum number of 1,250 characters)
- Answer any two of the following “essay” questions (in a maximum number of 300 characters each):
  1. “What is ahead on your bucket list?”
  2. “Penn’s lasting impact . . .”

Upload a current “head shot” photo of yourself (2 MB maximum file size and png, gif, jpg only); and/or, if you choose, a family or other photo as well.

We’ll also use your ‘67 Record photo in your bio section. If you did not have a photo in the Record, please provide a “back-in-the-day” head shot if you have one. You can use your phone to take a picture of a yearbook or other photo from your early ‘20s.

Finally, you will be asked to answer a brief survey that will be summarized on an aggregate basis only and will appear on a separate page in the yearbook. Your answers to the survey will be anonymous and will remain confidential.

Penn's lasting impact ...

Life since Penn ...
I spent my 20s working in real estate development and private school fundraising before returning to my passion, journalism, at age 30. I got married at age 28; acquiring a wife, a child, and a Volkswagen. I became a community editor on the Eastern Shore, leaving that to become public affairs officer and eventually executive officer during 21 years of full-time service in the Maryland National Guard. After retiring as a colonel, I became deputy treasurer for the State of Maryland, retiring in May 2011. Significant personal events including giving up drinking in 1989, suffering a heart attack in 1993 and undergoing successful prostate cancer surgery in 2015. One constant: loving my family and Penn. Now heavily involved as a board member and officer, in some cases, of five non-profits, as well as Class of 1967 President and a member of the Alumni Class Leadership Council. I have lived a busy life as a retiree. For the past few years, I have written a weekly column in a local online publication, the Talbot Spy; immediate responses are illuminating. My wife Liz and I travel at least once a year, particularly enjoying England, Ireland and a Viking river cruise on the Danube River. Grandparenting has been joyful and satisfying, with both daughters living 45 minutes away.

Life since Penn ...
Spring of our senior year found me wondering what options I had besides the Peace Corps. I entered a teacher intern program which placed liberal arts grads into inner-city schools as paid half teachers, and I served my master’s in a year. Thus began my 31-year career as a Philadelphia teacher. During that time, I learned to fly and taught an aviation science course at a Philadelphia high school; I traveled every summer throughout the States and eastern and western Europe; I was a National Park Service volunteer guide at Independence National Historical Park; I was awarded three national fellowships to study Shakespeare and Ambrose Bierce; I taught as a Fulbright Exchange Teacher in England, where I lived next door to Lord Laurence Olivier; I authored study guides for the Philadelphia Drama Guild; I presented workshops at local, state and national conferences of teachers of English, while teaching at Masterman Lab and Demo School.

Penn’s lasting impact ...

As a once painfully shy and insecure young person, I credit my education and experiences at Penn with giving me the confidence to speak with and share my joy and enthusiasm for education with people of all ages.

What is ahead on your bucket list? I hope to declutter our home and downsize before it becomes necessary. I want to read all the books in my study. I would like to do some leisurely trips around the U.S. and Canada, and visit our Friends in E.I. again. I hope to see our son married to a wonderful girl and the father of children.

Grandchildren join in with his 70th birthday celebration.

Fred, Carl and Diane

Penn’s lasting impact ...

Persistence and willingness to learn from defeats and triumphs are critical attributes. Optimism amid chaos and personal turmoil beats pessimism and cynicism anytime. Love of, and by family trumps all else. Friends are to be treasured and nurtured. Service to your community is good for the soul.

Penn’s lasting impact ...

Great education—wish I had been more studious. My alumni experience has been particularly fulfilling, meeting folks whom I wished I had known 50 years ago. When my youngest daughterless attended Penn 15 years ago, I became even more connected to a first-class university.
